NB - "Lovely" really isn't the only descriptive word I know!!

Sunday - 4 pm

much love
Grandma

(my Bob) stopped recently after a meeting at the Huntington so Lee had two lovely things happen this week. Now, if I could have a visit with you — perfect!

Dear Ann,

How fast the weeks roll around - I've intended to write a note to you for ever so long - The last I heard you were dreading "finals" - Now that they are over (I suppose they are) you feel quite relieved - I know you came thru' them "with flying colors", as usual. I have such smart grand daughters! And what new subjects are you taking this semester? What are you doing along the art line now? "The History of Lithography" was too heavy to hold in bed last night - so I started my reading with an old "American Heritage" in which I read of President Buchanan's Lost Love, a strange mystery of blasted romance (he remained a bachelor) and the unexplained tragic death of the lady. Then I chuckled a bit over Grace Moore's Autobiography - which is amusing & very interesting light reading, which I had forgotten having read it so long ago. This a.m. Ruth Ann & Dick came by & we had a nice visit.

They brought me a lovely photograph taken one evening when they chaperoned a party. They have a ~~lovely~~ very fine new camper. Your uncle,
