5. Announcements:

Dot Lloyd has asked that we play the game BAFA-BAFA, a simulation developed by Gary Shurz of WBSI. It can help understand the frustrations of being a misunderstood, minority culture. The game takes about 2 hours.

I will try to call people in this next week and get as much business taken care of as possible, in order that we might devote all of the meeting to the game.

It can be an interesting, educational, revealing experience, and may give us some ideas of how CURE might use it.
