APS.. what is it ?

Adult Protective Services, Inc., under the able direction of Mrs. Pauline DeWolfe, has recently relocated, and even more recently changed its status.

Formerly Protective Services for Older People, and under the aegis of the Community Welfare Council, the service has received funding under a contract to Community Mental Health Services of the County. APS is now located at 3580 Adams Avenue, and the phone number is 283-5731.

Protective services are the social, medical, and legal services needed to safeguard the rights and well-being of older people. APS is for all older people who, because of physical or mental handicaps, are not able to deal with the practical problems of everyday living; who cannot arrive at decisions based on reality, and have no one to make the decisions for them.

The purposes of APS are seen to be three-fold:

1. To see the older person's own resources, as well as those of the community, are used to his best interests.
2. To help him see and plan for his unmet needs in ways which will assure him of adequate care.
3. To protect him and the community when he behaves in ways hazardous to himself or to others.

The people who need APS's services the most are most often unaware of its existence. They are often over-aware or unaware of their own existence. They have to be sought out through aggressive case-finding, and then most unaggressively served. Followup is sustained and complete.

So . . . if you know of a client, friend, or neighbor who is seldom seen, who rarely goes out in public, who seems all alone in the world with no friends or relatives or who seems confused, contact Adult Protective Services. They may be able to offer direct help or to offer ideas for finding other sources of help.

UCS starts campaign

Activities of the YMCA supported by United Crusade will be enjoyed by more than 25,000 youths and adult members in San Diego County this year.

Nearly 75,000 home visits by Visiting Nurses throughout San Diego County are made possible by your support of the United Crusade.

Over 200 unwed mothers throughout San Diego County were given help at the United Crusade-supported Salvation Army Door of Hope Home and Booth Memorial Hospital last year.

Over 300 happy San Diego County couples became parents in 1969 through adoption services provided by United Crusade-supported Children's Home Society of California.

Your fair share gift works many wonders

United Crusade

More than 34,000 hearing tests and speech therapy sessions for children and adults throughout San Diego County will be given this year by San Diego Speech ard Hearing Center, also supported by United Crusade.

Skilled psychiatric treatment will be offered this year to some 400 San Diego County children with serious emotional problems at the Child Guidance Clinic of San Diego, another member organization of United Crusade.

AND. . . you and your staff, and the public of San Diego County, will be offered the continuing and expanding services of GUIDELINE, another United Crusade-supported service.

HELP US HELP YOU!

We're going public. . .

This month we're beginning to go public. So far, all of the publicity which the public has received about us has been through agency referrals and by word-of-mouth. That small amount of publicity has resulted in rapid growth and an increasing number of calls.

This month, with the beginning of the United Crusade campaign, a brochure will be distributed to a sampling of the population of the County. We're limiting ourselves to this in order to maintain a constant check on our ability to provide service and to enable us to overcome deficiencies as they arise.

So why tell you all about this? Well, we thought that the information which goes into our borchure might also be useful for other agencies and their staffs, so here is a list of names and numbers which we present for your use. If you have been keeping our (conveniently) punched Tie Line bulletins, and if you continue to do so, you will have a quick reference file which may prove to be of some use. If not, we would appreciate a quick read-through before you toss the bulletin away.

. . .and have new staff

GuideLine has a new staff member. Right now she's partly financed through a MAAC OJT Project, but she has already become a regular in our office and will continue after the project runs out. If you call us late, you will be talking to Josie Bojorquez, our new friend from National City. She's taking mean lessons from Maria and is a fast learner. She's twenty and unmarried, but she says she's not looking.

Expands service

Planned Parenthood/San Diego has taken another step toward offering a full spectrum of birth control services.

Pregnancy and Abortion Counseling Service (formerly Abortion Counseling Service) is now operating as a part of Planned Parenthood to deliver a high-caliber information and referral service for alternatives to a problem pregnancy.

P-ACS is available to individuals and families at their offices at 1369 "B" Street or by phone at 233-4515 and 233-6553. Additionally, a new leaflet is available from P-ACS. Titled "Problem Pregnancy: A Directory of Helpful Information," it includes resource information on subjects from the so-called "morning after pill" to abortion and genetic counseling.

BIRTH CONTROL SERVICES

PP/SD operates four clinics providing birth control to low income women of all ages, regardless of marital status, in San Diego. Transportation and babysitting are available by request at the time an appointment is made by calling the main office of PP/SD at 233-7638. At this main office, referral to qualified physicians who offer birth control services is also available for higher income women. PP/SD services include vasectomy and tubal ligation information and referral.

COUNSELING

Any person can call or come into the main office to receive counseling on the many methods of birth control, including rhythm, available. The choice of method is made by the user. Education is also given on basic reproduction.

OUTREACH

Planned Parenthood has six outreach counselors, including one male outreach worker, who work in the community and are available to speak to individuals and groups. The counselors will make house calls and can be reached through the main office.

SPEAKERS

PP/SD provides speakers for classes, groups, and organizations requesting programs of modern methods of birth control or population problems.

LITERATURE

Pamphlets are available without charge on birth control and population. PP/SD maintains a library and research file for the use of students. The latest publications on birth control, laws, population problems and sex education are on file at the main office.

Planned Parenthood has also added a poster campaign aimed at the man's role in population control. Depicting a man who appears to be pregnant, and captioned "Mr. Mother - Bet you'd be more careful is you got pregnant," the black-and-white poster is available at the main office for $1.00.

G.U.L.F.

Gay - Unity, Liberty, Fraternity is an organization set up to keep the homophile community, and the entire community, of San Diego informed as to legal rights, social information, counseling services, and any other requested information. G.U.L.F. has referral services to lawyers, doctors, dentists, psychiatrists, and other counseling services who are prepared to deal with the members of the homosexual community in a sympathetic and understanding manner.

As a fairly new organization, GULF is struggling. They need funds and people to help man the phones. Some of the incoming calls are of a crisis nature. GULF has persons on call for referral, but needs people to make these referrals.

Anyone interested in helping out, and agencies wishing to make referrals call 298-4086 or 582-3387 or write to PO Box 2882.

New Seniors' Service

Coronado's senior citizen population can now enjoy the benefits of their own personal assistance service.

Coronado Senior Adult Services - and agency of United Community Services of Coronado - recently began providing several kinds of help. The CSAS lists its goals as assisting senior adults in leading more meaningful lives, providing more access to available community services and participating with the community to develop new services to meet the needs of these citizens in the '70s.

CSAS offers five broadly defined services: Information and referral - for senior adult resources in the community; Professional counseling - for senior adults and their families or friends; Volunteer Visitors - to perform appropriate services for those who live alone; Family Seminars - to increase communication and understanding of the world of the senior citizen; Party-Line services - to establish a program of daily telephone contact between seniors and concerned friends.

Individuals throughout the community can assist CSAS by telling others about the services. Volunteer visitors are also needed. CSAS is free to individuals and is funded by volunteer contributions.
