Planning for a future

Considering the attention given to family planning by the Federal Government in the last few weeks, we thought it would be appropriate to give our local PLANNED PARENTHOOD ASSOCIATION a little attention too.

Family planning programs in San Diego County have basic objectives:

1. Providing to all individuals the accurate information about fertility control required for informed decisions about child bearing and use of birth control.
2. Providing to all individuals the means of controlling their fertility safely, effectively, conveniently, and at low cost.

FACTS ABOUT PLANNED PARENTHOOD

Women must make appointments for clinics through the office at

1369 "B" Street, San Diego, CA 92101

PLANNED PARENTHOOD ALSO:

1. provides speakers for classes, groups, etc. requesting programs on modern methods of birth control or population problems.
2. maintains a library and research file for the use of students with the latest information on birth control, laws, population problems, sex education, etc.
3. has available pamphlets (without charge) on birth control and population
4. has counselors available to make home calls and provide transportation to clinics if necessary (1 Escondido; 1 San Ysidro; 3 Southeast SD; 1 El Cajon.)

PLANNED PARENTHOOD BELIEVES: EVERY CHILD SHOULD BE A WANTED CHILD!

housing

GuideLine's new research assistant, Cal Guthrie is now busy working on housing information, with special emphasis on low-cost apartments and motels, establishing better and more complete relationships with renting agents, FHA, and other housing authorities. He has been laboriously wading through the telephone book, bureaucracies, and buck-passing to come up with vitally needed information. Isn't it about time for the people concerned about helping other people to get together and at least be honest in dealing with one another. How about saying honestly that we are empire-building and unwilling to share when that's actually the position we are in?

training

Convair Management Association is offering a free training program to agencies and their personnel.

They would be trained in setting up filing systems, administrative procedures, office routine, the use and misuse of forms, and other necessary information. The program will not enter into the internal programming situation of the agency itself.

For more information, contact Jerry Lynes at the Community Welfare Council, 239-2071.

volunteers

The Volunteer Bureau of the Community Welfare Council is about to undergo a rigorous self-study on how to improve services to the agencies using their services. The Bureau sees itself as lending greater emphasis to working with agencies in developing opportunities for the use of volunteers and in working with volunteers. They hope to become more involved in volunteer training, dealing with confidentiality and ethics, general orientation, and other aspects of volunteer programs. The Bureau is being manned by Jerry Lynes, who can be reached at 239-2071. Don't be surprised if the operator answers "Community Welfare Council" since both agencies are under the same roof.

The Bureau has summer listing of all volunteer opportunities on request.
