In what ways can you see citizens useful in fulfilling the purpose of your organization? Please be specific, naming any committees or action-concern projects you are connected with and the activities for involvement. If you have new ideas where there is no action presently, express those as well. Thank you!

Not active on any committee or action concern project - Rather the point of this group is to really befriend another family in a poverty, and/or racial minority category - with the hope that eventually the real needs of the poor minorities will be recognized from the ground up ~ & hopefully something constructive done to remedy them.

First goal = true friendship between the two families of different racial and economic backgrounds

Red Cross programs in San Diego County are carried on through the Headquarters Office and 13 Branches, the latter of which are located in Chula Vista, Coronado, El Cajon, Escondido, Fallbrook, La Mesa, La Jolla, National City, Oceanside, Ramona, Rancho Santa Fe, Encinitas and Vista. With the exception of the Oceanside Branch Office, the Branches are entirely volunteer manned. Approximately 10,000 volunteers serve Red Cross throughout San Diego County.

Organized programs include: Instruction in First Aid; a course for expectant parents, which teaches through demonstration, ways of caring for the child and mother; a Home Nursing course that teaches how to care for ill persons at home; a course designed to assist retirees preparing for and meeting personal needs; and courses in swimming and water safety instruction. Instruction is given by persons meeting Red Cross qualifications; nursing courses are supervised by Registered Nurses.

With the exception of swimming and water safety courses (which require specific facilities) all the courses named can be taught in any part of the community, with a minimum of resources.

These courses are designed to meet the needs of individuals in the fields of health and safety. Thus, enrollment in courses or encouraging enrollment in courses are ways in which citizens can be useful in fulfilling organization purpose.

Citizens can also help by making known to the Red Cross their desire to participate in program promotion. For example, a person or group might conclude that an expectant parent course would be important for a particular section of a community. This fact could be brought to the attention of the Red Cross and assistance offered to help in the promotion of classes.

Much of the work of Red Cross is carried on by volunteers; the ratio is 200 volunteers for each paid worker. Volunteers are sought regularly to work in Military Hospitals,serving military personnel. Volunteers are used in other functions such as driving, typing, sewing garments for use in disasters, working with Youth etc. Thus citizens can help Red Cross to fulfill its function by volunteering to serve in these or other programs.

① JACS - "Joint Action in Community Service": a group of Cardijn Center members acting as a unit belong to JACS. They, as part of JACS, contact new and returning Job Corpsmen to help re-orient the returning Corpsman to society. More men are needed for this work! Herb Hillson, Youth Opportunity Center 233-8221 is local contact person. Ernest Lara 264-4212 is the Cardijn contact.

③ People to help assemble and mail Cardijn Center Bulletin one day each month. It takes about 3 hrs.

P.S. I would like to participate in workshop #4 on Sept. 21 forgot to mark it. Sincerely - Father Les Davis

See attached material for purpose & program of activities.

Note the dialogue groups listed under "Coed Young Adult." These will focus on the question: "What does a right relationship between persons involve?" "In what new ways have we to look at: whiteness and blackness; Y-Teen, Young Adult, YW-Wives and other YWCA groups, boards, committees, staff; schools, churches; neighborhoods and housing; job opportunities; health, cultural, recreational and social services."

Note also the "Mothers' Program" under Adult Program. Volunteers for child care while the mothers meet, are particularly needed, also volunteers with a particular skill to teach. The value of this has been to bring poor and/or minority groups to the realization that the YWCA's not a middle class white organization.

On the next to last page, note the YWCA - Job Corps Residence Extension program. The need here is for clothing or kitchen supplies for the girls as they go out on their own after graduation from the program.

1.The YMCA is a layman organization run by persons trained in group work procedures. Speaking specidically about the Southeat Branch YMCA I believe that the citizens can help the "Y" fulfill its purpose by volunteering to involve themselves in the program. By doing this they can sense the needs, become better acquainted with the problem of staffing and funding.

The Southeast YMCA Branch has occupy the same building which is designed to accomodate about a hundred persons, at the most. While the average attendance to social runs sometimes over five hundred.

There are many service organizations in the area such as Loins, Kiwinis High Hatters etc, these clubs seems to lack the insight or interest to effect action. There are Model Cities proposed Community dialogues, task force CAC'S none of these seem to be ecpressly interested in providing adequate facilities for Youth programs. Counter to this there is a wide interest in Teen-Post which seem to flourish without trained leadership. However their purpose seem to be to provide an outlet for Youth energies.

We invite any interested persons to canvas with us, although only San Diego State College students are eligible to become members.

Since we are devoted to the area of "attitude" change, we feel that any and all open debate (ie. friends, neighbors, business associates) is helpful.

We have buttons available for a donation: One American Against Racism
