TAYARI = READY

Black Families for Black Children...

People get ready (TAYARI)...the train is comin'...an adoptive service is being established within the black community. Not only will it be located in the Southeast, it will be operated by a black, professional staff. Our pledge is to meet the "needs" as shown to us by the black community. These "needs" have been around for too long. "Do gooders" have descended upon the community before to tell black people how to settle black problems; Not this time! We are not coming to "tell" anybody anything. We are coming to ask. After you tell us what the community wants, needs, and, most importantly, how it wants the service delivered, then we will get out and do it the way you tell us.

What can an adoptive service do?

We can ...

... find permanent homes and love for homeless children.

... counsel an unwed teenager who finds herself pregnant and doesn't know what to do.

... help people (young, old, married, single) who want to give a homeless child a permanent home find that child. (We have about 25 healthy black boys and girls between 2 - 15 years old waiting for a home.)

... aid and counsel parents of all ages in distress with child rearing difficulties.

You can ...

... help us by calling
