PRESS RELEASE

"Leon Williams' San Diego" will be presented on KEBS-TV, Channel 15 at 10:30 p.m. February 12 and again at 7:00 p.m. February 14.

The program is part of the regular "San Diego At Large" weekly series, hosted by Peter Kaye, KEBS news and public affairs director.

The people and problems of the Fourth Council District will be seen through the eyes of Williams, who is San Diego's first black city councilman.

Williams visits the heart of both the black and brown community during the half hour program.

He talks to businessmen on Imperial Avenue; teenagers in San Ysidro and officials who are developing youth programs.

The 46-year-old Williams was appointed to the City Council last January 3.

In an interview with Kaye, he says he will seek reelection next fall. He also explains why it is important for San Diego to have a black councilman and why it has taken so long for it to happen.

The documentary was filmed and recorded by Paul Marshall, Warren Wright and Paul Steen of KEBS-TV.
