MUSIC THEATRE DANCE VISUAL ARTS

Get the most out of your arts programming budget! With funding on the decline for arts in education, getting the most for your school's money has become increasingly important. The Arts in Education EXPO enables educators, administrators and other school decision makers to see first hand what's available for their schools — all on one day, in one location.

WHO:

The Youth Education Alliance for the Arts (YEA!), a committee of the San Diego Theatre Foundation

WHAT:

The Arts in Education EXPO is a one-of-a-kind trade show of artists from all disciplines. It allows decision makers to preview artists before booking them for their schools.

The first of its kind, the Arts in Education EXPO brings together individual artists, arts organizations and art education groups from theatre, music, dance, visual arts, literature, design and more.

Attend the preview performances that will be staged throughout the day by groups available for your in-school bookings. Visit the exhibition booths to see the work of the many local artists whose programming focuses on working with children. Discuss your needs directly with the artists and managers who can help you augment your school's fine arts program.

WHERE:

The New San Diego Convention Center

This project is made possible in part by a grant from the City of San Diego Commission for Arts & Culture.
