PRINCIPAL'S COMMENTS

The Garfield Independent Learning Center is a small high school which tries to maintain a school population of approximately 500 students. An attempt is made to work closely with each young adult, giving each an opportunity to help in the planning of his/her educational, personal, and career needs. Opportunities for success are provided, and students who have never been successful in large schools often become motivated to do a quantity of school work, for the first time, in a school which offers them an alternative form of education.
