Subj: Office of Civilian Manpower Management Institute Opening Day Luncheon

Ref. (a) ROCMM NOTICE 5050, Ser 12/JRR:bb, of 31 July 1967

1. Purpose: To extend the invitation of the Director, Regional Office of Civilian Manpower Management, to the opening day luncheon of the OCMM Field Institute, 25 September 1967.

2. Background: A feature of the management institutes is the opportunity to hear distinquished speakers on current topics. This time the Monday luncheon speaker will be Mr. H. C. "Chad" McClellan, President of the Management Council for Merit Employment, Training, and Research in Los Angeles. Mr. McClellan's leadership in developing and placing unused talent in the Watts district has brought national recognition, as well as special additional State-level assignments by Governor Ronald Reagan. Mr. McClellan was previously President of the Old Colony Paint and Chemical Company, Assistant Secretary of Commerce for International Affairs in the Eisenhower Administration, and General Manager of the American National Exhibition in Moscow. Mr. McClellan is an outstanding speaker.

3. Action: Commanding Officers and other key management officials wishing to attend this endeavor will please make reservations by returning the enclosed card. Immediate attention is needed to permit the Vacation Village (where the luncheon will be held) to make adequate arrangements. There will be a no-host hospitality period at 1130, and luncheon at 1200. Price of luncheon is $2.95, including tax and tip.
