Sorry to hear you have

Ann, darling,

You aren't feeling well these days?

Oh, what a shame! Oh dear!

Here's a great big wish that it won't be long

Till GET-WELL TIME is here!

As you might guess, this card was purchased a long time ago, but always you were well by the time I knew you had been ill, but I hope it isn't too juvenile. From your account of all your recent activities, I'm not surprised that you have been a victim of some sort of germ, or is it just exhaustion? You are surely receiving a broad education in the field of art. There are few types you have not experimented with. It all sounds most interesting and makes me wish I were young & had your opportunities, and as you indicated, over. is easier more fun than the academic studies. And you are doing less relief. I take it, from your description.

Helping the underprivileged children is a noble and commendable occupation but perhaps you have been overdoing? I hope by the time this reaches Davis that you will be back to normal so you can enjoy the Thanksgiving holiday. Much love to you, dear, and hadn't you better take it easy - for a day or so.

Cordially Dr.
