

P.O. Box 16
Redwood Valley, Calif.

Miss Annie Moore
1118 Villanova Dr.
Davis, Ca.

Dear Ann,

I have only a moment to answer your letter. Please read mom and dad's letter for details about recent events.

In regards to the book, there is no doubt that we don't get objective reporting about events on the other side of the world, in the capitalist media. After all the philosophies are diametrically opposed. I certainly agree with you about "to each according to his need", but in a time of serious crisis some things might have to be adjusted temporarily for the sake of saving many. I can explain more later as its a complex subject. We certainly function on the basis of what each needs. If we did not we wouldn't have senior citizens' homes, etc. There is no country worse than us in its responsibility toward its aged, I don't believe.

Patricia wanted to add something but she had to study for her chemistry test. She sends her warmest thoughts though.

I am glad you are preparing yourself for the understanding of philosophy. Many of your conflicts will be resolved when you can discuss them with me and/or others. But letters do not convey ideas clearly enough.

Linda Amos says to say hellow and telll you we missed you in the sign making , of which I have no talent. They turned out OK though.

We have a girl nearly blind who is quite a talented artist. love, carolyn

