VOL. III — No. 3 SAN DIEGO, CALIFORNIA THURSDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1963

National News In Brief

The Ford Foundation has announced its gift of a $600,000 grant to be used in the preparation of minority group students for careers in the State Department and other foreign affairs federal agencies. The bulk of the grant will go to Negro colleges.

Arrests of integrationists in the South and the Northwest totaled into the hundreds over the past weekend. Sheriff's deputies arrested four Negroes in Clinton, Louisiana, during a picketing demonstration, bringing the weekend arrest total there to forty-two. Prior to that, the Congress of Racial Equality pickets appeared in downtown Clinton area but police, who made thirty-nine arrests on last Saturday, did not make any moves to harm or arrest them. In St. Louis, Missouri, thirty persons were arrested during a protest against hiring bias at a St. Louis bank.

In Chicago, Illinois, thirty-two demonstrators were taken into police custody at the Board of Education building. These people were arrested because of picketing against segregated schools.

Results of a recent Gallup Poll, under the direction of the American Institute of Public Opinion, find that, although white people in the United States express a high level of satisfaction with their life, the same is far from true of the nation's Negro population. The wide divergence of view is found between the two races on such basic personal concerns as family income, housing, jobs, education, and the future facing one's self and family.

This difference in levels of satisfaction between Negroes and whites sheds light on the whole problem of racial strife, which, in the minds of most Americans, is the No. 1 problem facing the nation today.

The following question was asked of both Negroes and whites in the nationwide Gallup survey: "On the whole, would you say that you are satisfied or dissatisfied with your family?"

The same question also was asked about people's housing situation, the work they do, the education of their children (or, if childless: the education children are getting today) and the future facing them and their families.

An authority on semantics called upon businesses to open their doors to Negro employment and take active initiative in recruiting and training Negro applicants on Thursday evening.

Dr. Samuel I. Hayakawa, professor of language arts at San Francisco State College, said, "Labor unions need especially to live up to their professions of democracy and initiate recruiting and training programs to include Negro applicants."

Hayakawa made his comments during a speech he delivered at the 16th annual dinner meeting of the Personnel Management Association of San Diego which was held at Ocean House.

A city-appointed biracial committee in Birmingham, Alabama, has recommended that Mayor Albert Boutwell employ Negroes on the Birmingham police force. The employment of at least twenty-five Negro policemen was the major demand put to the city last week by integration leaders who have threatened more mass demonstrations unless the ultimatum is met.

The city at present has no Negro policemen on its force. The recommendation was made by the Community Affairs Committee on Human Relations which met for more than three hours in a heated executive session.

FILING APPEAL—The Rev. Grandison Phelps, through his attorneys, Earl Gilliam and Thad Williams, has filed a petition with the Supreme Court to appeal the recent ruling on the recount ballots for City Council.

Rev. Phelps to Appeal Case in Supreme Court

As THE VOICE went to press, Attorney Earl B. Gilliam stated that he was in the process of preparing to file a petition with the Supreme Court to appeal the decision of the Superior Court's action in declaring Joe Stacey a winner by nine votes over Rev. Grandison Phelps for City Council 5th District placement on the ballot for the November 5th General Election.

ATTY. GILLIAM, together with co-counsel Atty. Thad Williams, was arranging for the recount trial transcript to be completely studied for rulings of law made by Judge Vincent A. Whelan.

Gilliam and Williams had a choice of two legal roads to follow. The team of lawyers could have either appealed Whelan's ruling on the Phelps-Stacey contest, or they could have filed suit to nullify the entire Primary Election. They chose to do the latter.

Throughout the recount process, crowds of supporters of Rev. Phelps for City Council ballot placement, filled the Superior Courtroom. A total of approximately $1,400 was donated to the cause of carrying the fight further by those in the Phelps' camp, both Democrats and Republicans alike.

DURING the recently held rally at Horton Plaza, prominent men who spoke on behalf of Rev. Phelps included Dr. J. J. Kimbrough, Rev. S. M. Lockridge, Rev. Tann and Atty. Earl B. Gilliam.

WHEN QUESTIONED concerning his feelings after the Whelan ruling, Phelps, in a mood for continuing his fight for his place on the ballot, stated that he is not thinking in terms of "not winning this battle yet!"

Hom has claimed that this is "clouding the issues in the campaign." Also, Hom has stated that the lengthy recount is costing the taxpayers money.

James Johnson Sets Precedent for Cross Country Bike Hike

By Betty Reid James Johnson, 47, of 645 South 45th Street, left a tidy note early on the morning of September 1st, addressed to his wife, stating that he was taking a short bicycle peddling trip up the coast to Selena Beach . . . and would be back for breakfast, before she returned from church.

WHEN NEXT Mrs. Johnson heard from her husband, he was arriving in Kansas City, Missouri, still peddling his bike. And that's the way the man with a purpose rode his Italian Capo bike from San Diego all the way to Perth Amboy, New Jersey, and into the yard of his mother's home, on September 27th.

Between the time that Johnson left San Diego and when he phoned his wife from Kansas City, Mrs. Johnson believed that he'd taken off on one of his many bicycle excursions and had decided to join the local group of the American Youth Hostels from Clairemont and La Jolla and was bound for San Francisco.

NOT SO. Johnson was trying for distance and, armed with appropriate greetings from San Diego Mayor Charles Dail for New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner, he believed that he could make the lap to New York. However, when he reached Perth Amboy and the comfort of his mother's home after all those days and nights, he decided to call it "quits" for the trip. He believes that he has established some kind of a record for distance and endurance. We are inclined to heartily agree!

FOR THE TRIP, James Johnson carried, or wore, as clothing his bowling shoes, a cap, a long sleeved shirt for nights, a lightweight water repellent jacket and a light pair of pants.

In his knapsack, he carried honey and crackers, maps, overnight toilet articles, stationery and a bible given to him by Rev. Marshall at the City Mission in New Castle, Pa.

He ran into bad luck and was required to undergo first aid treatment in a hospital in Chambersburg, Pa., when he came tearing around a corner doing 45 miles in a 20 mph zone.

On the cross country bike tour, Johnson averaged a speed of ten miles per hour, covering approximately 100 miles per day, and keeping a steady, slow pace all the way most of the time.

HIS FINANCES ran pretty low; and by the time he left Kansas City, he had only $10.50 in his pocket. He had to depend upon the good nature of the people in towns through which he passed among them the Salvation Army, the Police Department, Catholic organizations and the various City Missions.

All the way from Kansas City to Chambersburg, Pa., Johnson had to subsist on the unselfishness of charitable or

Marion Dyse Injured In Automobile Wreck

Marion Dyse, 30, of 650 Bollenbacher Street, was under the care of his private physician following a Saturday afternoon collision involving a 1958 Mercury driven by Willie Myles, 57, of 315 South Evans Street, at the intersection of 31st and Franklin Streets.

Dyse, driving a 1963 Corvair Spyder, was under sedation following injuries of the head. Two passengers in the car owned by Marion Dyse, Mrs. Juanita Weaver, 42, and her daughter, Sheila Nance, 14, were taken to ambulance to Bayview Hospital. Mrs. Weaver suffered a fractured rib. She was released from Bayview on Sunday evening. Miss Nance was treated for a knee injury.

Witnesses of the collision, which occurred at approximately 5:25 p.m. on Saturday, stated that Dyse was driving East on Franklin when his car was struck by the car driven by Myles which was traveling South on 31st Street.

The car owned by Marion Dyse was almost a total wreck when it was towed away.

POINT OF VIEW The Story of How Joe Saunders Died

By ERNEST MANDEVILLE

Let Dr. Tom Brewer, resident physician of a county hospital in Florida, tell his own story:

One of my fellow residents told me he cried the first time he saw and talked to Joe Saunders. I suppose a resident physician doesn't cry over the plight of his patients very often. We develop defenses against these tough cases; we get used to seeing people die of cancer.

My fellow resident cried because he didn't think of Joe Saunders as a "patient" but as a fellow human being.

Joe Saunders was a young man — a colored man from the Bahamas. He had a huge tumor in his arm pit, and his arm had been amputated.

"Why did you cry?" I asked.

"The fellow is in so much pain and he's dying of this very malignant tumor and he seems so homesick for his family and for his island home. He seemed so appreciative of the care he was receiving . . . my eyes filled with tears and I had to turn away."

That's all I learned of Joe Saunders for a year; I never was called to his ward. I was in the labor room helping young ones into the world. I never saw Joe Saunders; now I wish I had.

OUR HOSPITAL is in Miami, Florida, vacation-land of the wealthy.

Joe Saunders was sent to us from Nassau with the hope that a new chemical might bring some relief to his pain and slow down the growth of the malignant tumor.

His family was poor; there wasn't enough money for anyone to come to Miami to visit him. He died five months after his admission to the hospital. He died a lonely, painful, depressing death in a foreign land among people apparently devoid of human sympathy and warmth.

Last week I heard a story about Joe Saunders I found difficult to believe so I called up a young woman, Margit Jacobsen, who had worked on his ward. Can this story be true? She confirmed its every detail. I will pass it on to you for your opinion.

MARGIT WAS BORN in Denmark. She was a good nurse and a hard worker. She referred to Joe as "Mr. Saunders." Perhaps this disturbed some of her fellow workers because Joe Saunders was classified as "colored." Since he came from the Bahamas, it was difficult for him to accept segregation and discrimination; he just didn't understand it.

Margit told her parents and sisters about Joe Saunders. They brought him cakes and flowers and cheerful smiles. They exchanged letters with his family in the Bahamas.

Once Joe Saunders felt a bit stronger and got a pass for five hours and went out of the hospital for the first time. Margit's mother picked him up and took him to their home for a visit. They had supper and listened to music. His chart that day read: "Patient seems more cheerful — no nausea or vomiting."

Then came a call to Nurse Margit from the supervisor of nursing personnel: "We just don't do things like this in the South. You don't take colored people into your home." The other nurses also scolded her.

Margit couldn't understand the supervisor's attitude, but he made it very clear: "If you take him again, you'll lose your job."

She went to the hospital chaplain. He too was shocked at her social behavior and reprimanded her. Margit was fired. Joe Saunders didn't get his second ride. In fact Joe Saunders didn't get any other rides. Until he left in a coffin two months later.

There were many notes on his chart those last two months: "Patient is crying with pain constantly . . . not much relieved by hypos."

A sign was put on his door: "Visitors restricted to immediate family only."

His family was far away in the Bahamas. But the Jacobsens made themselves his adopted family and visited him often.

COMPASSION AND UNDERSTANDING and communication between people is necessarily inevitable — but what changes are made will have to be made by individuals acting day by day, taking a step forward, marking time, and then another step.

We are not concerned here with abstractions such as better schools, political and civil rights. We are concerned with the basic injustice to a human being!

We are concerned with an institution, a pattern of thinking, which denies the basic truths of all the great religions and philosophies: that human individuals are important and deserving of respect and dignity . . . as individuals!

Editorial

Are YOU Guilty?

Plenty Negroes in San Diego should be suffering from a guilty conscience!

On Primary Election Day . . . we had every opportunity in the world . . . to place a Negro on the ballot for the City Council position. We didn't.

It isn't necessary to recap why Rev. Grandison Phelps isn't on the ballot — as of today — since most of us are fully familiar with the recount.

What is necessary . . . is to point out the fact that we . . . FAILED . . . as Negroes!

Many different people have voiced many different reasons for our failure.

So, we feel that we might pool all of these reasons together and bring the facts "home to roost."

First, we've heard excuses about the weather on Primary Election Day. Sure, it was chilly and it was rainy; but we'll bet our last dollar on the statement that if there had been a social affair going on that same day . . . everyone of us would have forgotten the weather and the rain . . . and been in attendance.

The Primary Election voting was much more important than any social event you can name!

The lack of those extra votes . . . lost because some of us just couldn't arouse ourselves to face the wind and rain for a few short minutes in the voting booth . . . meant the closeness of the Stacey-Phelps voting results.

Our next concern for bad times with our consciences . . . should stem from the fact that we, as Negroes, went to the polls with a divided vote.

This was political suicide . . . for both Negro candidates.

Any smart politician could tell you that, in fact, the white politicians KNEW it already . . . and laughed when they realized that they'd scored again.

It stands to reason, that with the number of votes which Rev. Phelps stacked up . . . he could easily have been on the ballot today . . . had he been the only Negro running for City Council!

The next point, often brought up since the recount, is that there is a dire need for more education in voting.

We disagree to a certain extent with that observation.

The need for voting education is not as great as the need for proper interpretation — by those who are being paid to "man" the polling place — of what should, or should not be done.

In fact, if proper instructions were given to each voter . . . there would be no incorrectly marked ballots. I'm sure that anyone who is old enough to vote, is sufficiently intelligent to obey a few simple instructions.

So, back to our original thought about guilty consciences:

There are three sets of citizens in San Diego who should be finding it difficult to woo slumber these evenings because of subtle sabotage of the efforts to gain a place on the ballot for a Negro for City Council.

One would be those who did not deem it sufficiently important to brave the elements on Primary Election Day . . . and vote.

The next would be those who deliberately "split" the Southeast area votes between two Negro candidates.

The third group, of course, are those chosen citizens stationed at the polling places . . . who wouldn't put forth that little extra effort . . . to instruct all and sundry in how to vote properly before they entered the curtained booth.

There should be many guilty consciences throughout this area!

Point of View

DR. BREWER SAYS that Joe Saunders and Margit Jacobsen are only two of many people who have suffered from racial prejudice in his hospital.

"One of our RN's was removed from her position as a charge-nurse because she attended a party given by one of her colored nurse's aides.

"A Cuban woman was suspended for two months without pay because she bought a hot dog in the 'colored' sandwich shop.

"A young woman working in the record room as a clerk was reprimanded and forced to change jobs because she was 'too friendly' with the 'colored' orderlies who came to sweep up."

She had said, "Good Morning."

As I See It

By JAMES GILLIAM

There are a great many things in this life for which all of us should be glad and proud.

A FRIEND who has lived next door or a stranger who has befriended you out of the goodness of his heart can make you feel warm inside. Oftentimes, you can sit in the coziness of your own home and smile in satisfaction about the goodness that has come to you. You enjoy the goodfellowship of comrades and bask in the glory of knowing that you live in their reflected accomplishments.

The cares of the world seem miniscule or microscopic in comparison to the warmth and glow of mutuality you get from friends when they call or stop to chat. Perhaps, you can't manage to arrange a prolonged visit or an hour, but when you meet for a sidewalk chat, there is that indefinable something which rekindles all of the glow and radiance of esteem and well being.

YOU LIKE TO meet some people just for the human warmth and sparkle which they give to you and life. You know how they radiate sincerity and you recognize them as the salt of the earth.

There is no pretense or make believe about them because they are as genuine as a flawless diamond. Literally, you can let down your hair and talk shop. And, even shop talk becomes a moment of achievement. For the nonce, you forget the cares of the world, pull off your shoes, scratch your back, loosen up your girdle and relax. You can even come off your high horse, open up your collar, yawn in their faces to catch a needed breath and hang on for dear life just to be associated with, and a comrade of, the best people on earth . . . your friends.

YOU DON'T HAVE to talk about your aches and pains or your misfortunes or your operations or even other persons. All you have to do is slouch back on the old sofa, curl up on the floor or just nestle cozily in the old easy chair and live it up with your friends.

The most beautiful part about being a friend and having friends is that you don't have to pretend. You can be yourself. You can come down off your high and mighty pedestal, blow your nose like a field hand or belch like a tout and your friend will understand.

IF YOUR SHOES hurt, you can pull them off and rest your weary dogs, your friend won't care a bit. If you feel like leaning and just listening to your mutual admiration society, you will find an attentive ear in a friend.

You don't have to put on the dog for your friend; you can act natural.

And, a good thing about a friend is that he can see your faults and still be your good friend. You don't have to be perfect, and act like you're bilious in order to get the least bit of attention.

YOU CAN BE happy and gay or an old grouch box and your friends will give you the glad hand.

A funny thing, there are some little expressions that your friend can make which will send you into a world of ecstatic bliss. It seems that nobody else can say some things like your friend can say them. And, you can overlook the meanness and most diabolical traits in your friend which you wouldn't tolerate for one minute in some other cuss.

HE CAN BEAT his wife, drink like a fish, swear like the devil, smell like holy hell, lie like a dead dog and cheat like a crook; but, your esteem for him is just as genuine and as earth shattering as all that which you impute to your saint.

You know why? He's your friend!

Others can talk about him and damn him up one side and down the other but your faith in his intrinsic worth will not be shaken. You can agree with all the criticism but this does not destroy the quality of human gentility which you impute to him.

After all, he's your friend!

HIS LOSS IS your loss and you'll stand by him through thick and thin. You'll let him have your last dollar because you trust him. When he's hungry, you'll feed him and wait on him hand and foot. You'll stand up when he gets married and act as godparent for his children. You'll even help to settle their domestic disputes when they arise. You'll chide them when you know they're wrong and compliment them when they're doing all right. Your affection and concern is limitless because you know they're your friends.

He can be as sly as King Scrooge and as rakish as King David; but you'll not turn against him when the chips are down.

THE TEST of the friendship is based on your fundamental belief in the individual as a human being who can be forgiven his misdeeds and wrong doings. You don't condemn him as a man even though you don't do what he does. Because one does not see eye to eye with you on moral grounds is no excuse to bedevil him with your narrow point of view.

Each of us must live his life according as he sees the light to live it. There are those who will rebel and society will condemn them. Also there are those naive souls who will conform and mount the steps of the saints because our social ethics are structured so that virtue is rewarded thusly.

THE VOICE of conscience speaks to the rake just as sweetly and as harshly as it does to the saint. And sometimes, methinks, even the saints don't hear too well.

There is only one way to have a friend and that is to be a friend to another fellow human being.

Yes! Don't expect total loyalty from your friend or you will be sorely tried. The worse double cross you'll ever have will come from those whom you have befriended.

YOU'LL FEEL the sting much more deeply because you wouldn't expect a friend to do you dirt.

But, each good man has his traitor.

EVEN YOUR WIFE or husband can say the most biting things to hurt you to the quick. Yet, you love them none the less. 'Tis a wonderful world in which we live where we can honestly trust our friends and believe in them.

It is just plain good to know that people can call you friend and mean it . . . without the thought of Good Friday.

Speaking Out

by Harold Brown

(Chairman, SD Congress of Racial Equality)

MY SUGGESTION that Archie Moore come out into the community and express himself in the area of civil rights has caused some people to become alarmed.

Some resented what I said — others agreed.

However, there is a need for clarification of last week's column, so that you will be sure you know what you agree or disagree with.

Let me preface my clarification by saying that I sincerely welcome your criticisms and remain always ready and willing to discuss with you any portion of my column. Some persons have taken the time to call me and express their feelings about last week's column. I am happy to say that these people intelligently and as tactfully as possible explained their feelings. I appreciate this. Others took the more indirect route and gave my friends hell. Oh, well — what are friends for?

MY FIRST POINT of clarification is that I am not looking for "a" leader. I am looking for people sincerely interested in helping the Negro masses. When I use the word "leader" I am not talking merely about a speech maker. I am talking about someone who can move a group of people toward a desired goal. And in my book this does not necessarily mean that this person own a barrel of college degrees.

My second point is this: I was not speaking of a political leader. I had no thought of politics at all. In fact, I had no particular field in mind. A person can lead regardless of the field he is in. I hope this will eliminate the interpretation of some persons, that my suggesting that Archie Moore get into the civil rights fight in San Diego implied that I was "slamming" the Reverend Phelps.

My suggesting Archie Moore has no connection with the Reverend Phelps. In fact, we could use them both, and a lot more.

The Reverend Phelps is a very capable man. I think he would do an excellent job as city councilman. However, this does not eliminate others from taking a position that can move a large group to action.

MY LAST POINT is that because it takes a number of years to build an image, it would be wise to look for someone who has the image already.

Archie Moore expressed an interest and a desire to help in San Diego's fight against racial injustice. So I say to Archie Moore and all the rest who can supply our community with a voice that people will listen to, to speak out as loud as thunder for immediate action toward solving this racial problem.

It gets mighty lonely on the front lines of demonstrations when you look around and you see so few of the people whose voice and encouragement you need. It makes it very difficult for the few of us who will demonstrate if need be to correct a racial injustice, when those who have a voice in the community will not let their voices be heard. You have kept quiet too long. Don't sit back and let others do the work without at least standing up for them and saying to all of San Diego, "Yes, we agree with demonstrations where racial injustices exist."

THERE IS MUCH work to be done in CORE, so I don't have time to go around looking for leaders. As we enter more deeply into our projects I will use this column to keep you informed as to what we are doing.

My thanks and appreciation to those who have sent in donations to CORE along with their requests to become members. My thanks also to the gentleman who wrote to me expressing his desire to help CORE in any way he can.

IT IS EASY to forget to mention that some very wonderful people are in CORE who are working very hard. My sincere thanks to them for all their hours of sacrifice and dedication.

San Diego CORE is looking for some place to rent for office space. If you can help in any way we shall appreciate it. Donations may be sent to CORE, P.O. Box 13128, San Diego.

This Saturday, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., CORE will set up booths around the Southeast area to receive names of persons looking for employment. It is very important that we have applicants to send to various places. So look for a CORE booth Saturday if you are looking for work.

SOME PEOPLE have been asking me if they may become members of CORE if they can't attend the meetings on Thursday. The answer is yes.

We have two classifications of membership, active and associate. An associate member cannot vote or hold an office.

TO BECOME a member of CORE you must fill out an interest sheet indicating your choice of membership. The minimum dues for active or associate members is $3.00 per year.

Let us hear from you soon. HELP CORE fight for you. See you next week.

Letters To The Editor

Housing Laws

Editor:

A representative of the National Association of Real Estate Boards said last week that realtors must uphold the human right of property owners in states and cities where it is threatened by forced housing laws.

The speaker, Edwin L. Stoll, said at least 14 states have been successful. Thus far in preserving this right of property ownership by defeating forced housing proposals or seeing them die in legislation committees.

He stated, "In varying degrees the treasured right of the owner to rent or sell regardless of other considerations will destroy one freedom in the guise of establishing another freedom while following a course of moderation in the Civil Rights controversy."

Mr. Stoll is director of public relations for the National Association and in this position of responsibility, Mr. Stoll should qualify as a man with understanding and truthful integrity.

These qualifications are primary because of his leadership responsibility to his fellow realtors and to his nation.

Mr. Stoll's statement reflects an emotional fear, and a distorted education concerning real estate purchases; the right to purchase property, the right of ownership, the meaning of his license, the needs of his nation and the real meaning of freedom.

The objective finding that 14 states have taken a stand to defend the old methods of denying citizens the rights to purchase property is short of 4 states, because 18 states in America today support by law, racial segregation practices and racial ghettos. Four states short of a goal of 18 must be disappointing to him.

Laws denying an American citizen his rights because of race, is no longer controversial in 1963 to all reasonable and sane U.S. citizens.

Mr. Stoll fails to differentiate the personal prejudicial concessions of private citizens, must be disconnected from the licensed realtor's behavior and conduct, unless he is willing to take a stand to conspire with the owners demand to practice bigotry and to deny a citizen the right to purchase property an unalienable right of all Americans.

The public must not be harmed by any licensed agent or agencies in this practice because the act is inconsistent and is contradictory and is in direct conflict with the demands of our constitution and bill of rights. Every realtor supporting such a program because of a distorted education concerning our freedoms, will contribute to the destruction of our nation, because our heritage is to defend the freedoms of the individuals not to defend a system to abuse individuals by bigots.

Private demands for prejudicial practices must not be condoned by the realtors unless they are interested in the promotion of racism and ghettos.

An undemocratic, subversive, unjust, and illegal act! Yes!

OPINIONS IN PASSING

By Daniel W. Brown, M.D.

Concept of Equality
 Freedom depends upon an act to preserve a freedom. Every individual must work and sometimes must fight for his freedoms.

THE HERITAGE of our country was basically a struggle to preserve freedoms.

A free society depends upon an education in a concept of the equality of men. All concepts of inequality of man leads to dual situations, dual rules and laws; this results in dual conclusions and an unfair and unjust and undemocratic system is the only answer possible.

FREEDOM of the individual demands common courtesy and conduct consistent with fair play. Freedom of thought, freedom of expression, is a lifelong freedom inherent in man and is personal and private, when personal and private ideas become related to others, and in many instances, a natural conflict comes into play.

Right and wrong ideas, just and unjust acts conflict; and it is at this point that rules of conduct come into play.

After a debate and an experience, and a conclusion, a law results. Wrong laws later on become recognized and a change is effected.

PERSONAL PREJUDICIAL ideas and concessions are practiced daily; however, all legal prejudicial commitments by a community, state or of a nation to control a citizen will result in conflicts.

A nation dedicated to freedoms is forced into a direction of equality concepts, otherwise the nation will be destroyed because of natural contradictions and inconsistencies to the meaning of one country, one God, and one America.

OUR CONSTITUTION and bill of rights support a concept of equality of man.

Our racial classification system supports the concept of inequality of man; yet in America, this system of classification identifies every citizen from birth to death and is unjustified in a democratic society.

city, because it is based upon a concept of inequality of man.

In reality, this system of classification is used for the convenience of man to organize such philosophies in support of slavery, segregation exploitation and Nazism.

IN AMERICA, our entire racial structure depends upon our racial classification system. The definition of a Negro and of a Caucasian diametrically opposes each, resulting in improper conclusions and an unscientific definition of terms.

Intelligent and reasonable individuals would dare not become involved with such an unscientific and unscientific classified system of man because of this error in definition. The present racial classification accepted by the western culture, is the constitution and backbone of a racist.

TO PROMOTE racism or group against group, the essential documents needed are:

(1) Our present system of race classification, and (2) "Darwin's theory of the evolution of man. Each supports the concept of the inequality of man.

Freedom of man and of one's society depends upon a concept of equality of man.

THE CONCEPT of inequality of man because of race, religion, nationality or creed, will destroy man, God, and country.

Human justice demands a single definition and equal protection.

Treat Goblins And Ghosts With Gay Molasses Cookies

By Louise Adams
(VOICE Food Editor)

GOING TO have goblins and ghosts at your door soon?

EXPECTING pirates and fairies inside the house?

OF COURSE you will. Halloween is approaching — All Hallow's Eve when only the bravest venture outside.

TRICKING and treating aside, you can practice a little witchcraft of your very own with the magic of cookies 'n' candy combination; and top them off the cool molasses milk for added energy for a night of fun and frolic.

There isn't an imp this side of you-know-where that won't go for these Toll House cookies. Baked in no time, they're filled with country-fresh ingredients and scattered through with semi-sweet chocolate morsels. You know those little nuggets of pre-processed chocolate that melt in your mouth but not in your baking?

IN CONTRAST, misty-eyed jack-o-lantern cookies boast zesty spices and nature's nutritious sweetener, unsulphured molasses. To satisfy the youngest — or oldest — sweet tooth wandering about on that murky eve, try molasses peanut-butter candy. And it takes only one tablespoon of molasses per glass of milk to produce a refreshing pitcher of "witches' brew."

ARRANGE your cookies 'n' candy treats in rows on colorful metalware trays. And so you won't be washing glasses long after your last demon is in bed, serve the refreshment in gaily-decorated paper cups, then toss them and relax — till next Halloween.

TOLL HOUSE COOKIES

½ cup softened butter
6 tablespoons granulated sugar
6 tablespoons brown sugar
1 egg
½ teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon water
1 cup plus 2 tablespoons sifted all-purpose flour
¼ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels
Cream together butter and sugars. Stir in egg; add vanilla and water. Sift together flour, baking soda and salt. Stir into sugar mixture. Add semi-sweet chocolate morsels, mix well. Drop by half teaspoonfuls on ungreased baking sheet. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 10 to 12 minutes.
YIELD: Approximately 50 cookies.

MOLASSES PEANUT BUTTER CANDY

¾ cup unsulphured molasses
¾ cup peanut butter
1 cup nonfat dry milk
Mix together unsulphured molasses and peanut butter. Stir in nonfat dry milk; knead lightly on additional nonfat dry milk. Roll into long rope ¼-inch in diameter. Cut into 1½-inch pieces. Wrap pieces in waxed paper or transparent plastic wrap. If desired, chill several hours for a firmer candy.
YIELD: Approximately 1½ pounds.

JACK-O-LANTERN COOKIES

2¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup shortening
¾ cup sugar
1 egg
½ cup unsulphured molasses
Sift together flour, salt, soda and spices. Cream shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Blend in egg and unsulphured molasses. Gradually add dry ingredients; mix well. Chill in refrigerator 1 hour. Divide dough in thirds. Roll out each third ¼-inch thick organizations for which he has great praise.

TRICK OR TREAT with delicious cookie and candy homemade semi-sweet chocolate and unsulphured molasses morsels. Serve to Halloween tricksters with refreshing molasses-flavored milk for something different and surprising.

ONLY ONE incidence of racial discrimination occurred during the trip; when Johnson was refused eating service at a Drive-In at Boonville, Missouri.

Philosophically, Johnson looks back upon his "Big Tour" and tells us that he would have taken it last year but was forced to postpone the trip on bicycle because of the heat wave taking place in four states through which he would have passed.

EVENING APPOINTMENTS ARRANGED

Socially Speaking

by Freddie Jackson

The Sunday afternoon, October 6th, Fashion Show, "Flight 100," sponsored by the Special Activities Committee of the San Diego Chapter of the NAACP at El Cortez Hotel, is still the talk of the town socially.

Fashion wise socialites have an idea of what they might "pick up" for the Cotillion Spectacular to be presented by the San Diego Club of the National Association of Negro Business and Professional Women's Club, Inc.

The setting will be Del Webb's Ocean House (Fleet Ballroom) on Saturday evening, October 26th . . . or for the October 29th reception being planned for Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, sponsored by San Diego County Women's Division of the Democratic State Central Committee.

This will be Mrs. Johnson's first San Diego visit and residents throughout the county will have the opportunity of personally meeting the wife of the Vice-President.

Guests will share a breathtaking view of the city from the reception setting — the new Cuyamaca Club located in the recently completed United State National Bank Building . . . or for the December 7th Ebony Fashion Fair Americana, sponsored by Las Munciona Auxillary of the Children's Home society . . . or for that PTA meeting, sorority meeting, bridge club luncheon, coffee klatsch, at home entertaining, going on shopping spree, winter resort trips and football games.

Mrs. George Bell president of the Logan Crockett PTA, will accept for the community the new David Crockett School at the school's dedication on October 21st.

Mrs. LaFonde McGee Presented in Concert

By Freddie Jackson

Bethel African Methodist Episcopal Church Chancel Choir presented Mrs. LaFonde McGee in concert on last Sunday evening.

Mrs. McGee's voice, with its bell like tones, filled the church seemingly, with little effort though years of preparation must have gone before such a performance.

During the first half of the concert, Mrs. McGee wore an ice blue peau de soie evening dress with an over layer of imported lace on the bodice.

She sang the Lord's Prayer, Hear Ye, Israel (from "Elyah"), J'Al D' Arte Vissi D' Amore (from "Tosca"), The Voice In The Wilderness, and I Talked To God Last Night.

During intermission, Mrs. Josephine Wilson, a member of the Chancel Choir, introduced Mrs. Geraldine Campbell, pianist, and Mrs. Dannela Brown, director and organist for the choir.

During the second half of the concert, Mrs. McGee wore a white satin evening dress with a beautiful high-but-strapless shaped front bodice; and at the waist, a large bow with a beautiful pin in the center of the bow.

Numbers rendered by Mrs. McGee during the second half were My Hero, The Cuckoo, Daddy's Sweetheart, Sinner Please Don't Let This Harvest Pass, City Called Heaven, Oh What A Beautiful City, and I grown-up gala on the patio to honor the visitors from out-of-town, were Alphonzo's Godparents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Gray of 3821 Z Street.

Young friends of Alphonzo's who were his party guests included his Cub Scout pals Hollis Gentry, III; Charles Reid, Jr.; James Kilpatrick, Jr.; Harold Gaither, Billy Lampkin, Stephen Meek, Michael Sears, and Richard Cruz. Adding female glamor to the party were two Junior Misses, Brenda Gentry and Beverly Naulls.

Want Jesus To Walk With Me. Mrs. McGee was presented one dozen long stemmed roses from the Tennessee State University Alumni Club of Los Angeles.

Mrs. McGee is a graduate of Tennessee State University.
