LET IT PASS

Let courage guide our path. Shakespeare.

Anger is the root of success. Let it pass!

Dread not death's inevitable coming. When it will appear, it will.

Shake off every care.

Let it pass.

Amuse yourself.

Strike across the prey, and let it pass.

As the gale of a hurricane, let it pass.

Tell your rider to ride the horse.

The horse who forgives.

Let it pass.

Soho not an angry word, let it pass.

True as how often you have erred.

Let it pass.

When one may and must pass away,

They shall not give the horse a horseback.

Let them pass.

If for love you've taken 10.

Let it pass.

Oh! for kind and gentle days.

Let it pass.

Time of grief makes all things straight and true.

Let us not grieve, but wait.

And may I change shall to it pass; let it pass.

SAYS THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN: It may be questionable whether we ourselves, or other woodchuckers, are most offended by the smell of the oil of pennyroyal. But certainly the smell is not very pleasant and its use in great taste, nor will they return so long as the air in the room is loaded with that aromatic herb. If the rats enter the cellar, a little powdered white soap thrown into their holes or mixed with molasses and scattered in their runs, will drive them away. Cayenne pepper will keep the rat from your house if you put it in your wells. No mouse or rat will eat or live in an apartment where there is a mixture of white soap and molasses stuck to it. The result is that you can drive away the rat and keep your house and your clothes free from the annoyance of rats and mice. If you have any questions about the use of these substances, feel free to ask.

WINCHESTER AND CAMILLE SAULS—TOWARDS the celebrated Winchester and the Camille Sauls, the white soap in this gothic style is usually used as a pollution of the air. How to keep your house free from rats and mice. If you are not familiar with these substances, feel free to ask. If you have any questions about the use of these substances, feel free to ask. Cure for Hoarseness—A physician has at last come to the relief of the much-afflicted professional speakers and singers with a "cure for hoarseness." With singular dissolventness and communicativeness, which is remarkable on the part of one of the secretive medical fraternity, Dr. Cusen, in the Medical Record, makes known this simple and immediate remedy:—Ten minutes before any continuous effort at speaking or singing, a lump of borax the size of a pea, if held in the mouth and slowly dissolved and swallowed, will render the voice soft and silvery for an hour. It is perfectly harmless, only stimulating the secretion of saliva. It is not claimed for the borax; it will break up cold, but for this purpose a small dose of nitrate of potash, taken at night with a glass of water and supplemented by extra covering, is warranted to ward off the monster, if taken at its approach.

Valuable Recipes

For STOPPAGE OF WATER IN HORSES—Most persons give horses nothing but water for their consumption. Too much water has a very bad effect on the kidneys.

The best remedy now used by the farmers is, to give 1 oz. of saltpetre and juniper, of each 1 oz. As a diuretic, oil of juniper is much better than nitre, and has none of its bad effects. Mix the above articles, and give when you have occasion to, and you will find it is a certain remedy.

WHEN you want to buy condition powders, take this recipe to the drug store, and you will get four times the amount for the same money, and a great deal better condition powder than any other you can buy: Powdered mustard, 1 oz.; cream of tartar, 1 oz.; saltpetre, 1 oz.; black antimony and ginger, 1 oz. 1/2; each 1 oz. of cayenne pepper, 1/4 oz.; mix thoroughly together. Dust—1/2 to 1/4 teaspoonful of twice daily.

We have put this up at a great many times, and consider it one of the best condition powders known. Good for either horses or cattle, in general diseases.

ENGLISH STABLE LINTMERE—Oil of spike, 1 oz., lavender, 1 oz., orange oil, 1 oz., aromatic oil of amber, 1/2 oz. of myrrh, 1 oz. of essential oil of orris root, 1 oz. Mix.

A good horse-calming to keep on hand for general purposes.

FIELD DAYS’ FAIR KILLER—You can get five times as much of this celebrated medicine, by getting this mixture, 1 oz. filled for the same money than you can buy in the bottles in which it is sold.

You can get 1/2 oz. or 1 oz. of this filled at one time, if you wish. Alcohol 1 oz., 1/2 oz., each 1 oz. of opium guaiac, myrrh, camphor, and cayenne pepper, 1/2 oz. Each 1 oz. of saltpetre and sulphur ether 1/2 oz., mix. Pour into a small bottle, and cover with a cap. The mixture will last for several years.

This is the genuine pain killer, and is a valuable prescription to every druggist and farmer.

The office of the moon was first recorded at Babylon in A.D. 270 by the great mathematician, Ptolemy, who showed its movements to be a succession of phases or moons, two of which are shown on the map. The moon moves in the same direction as the sun, which causes the movement of the earth to be observed in the sky. The earth, therefore, is not simply a flat disk moving in a circle, as is often believed, but is actually a sphere with a slightly flattened equator and an oblate spheroid shape. The moon, on the other hand, is a moon-shaped body that orbits the earth in a nearly circular path, completing one orbit every 27.3 days. The moon is much smaller than the earth and is composed of a thin crust, a thick mantle, and a solid core. The moon's surface is composed of rocks and minerals, some of which are derived from the earth. The moon's gravity is much weaker than the earth's, which is why it is possible for people to walk on its surface. The moon's position in the sky is primarily determined by the position of the sun, which causes the moon to appear to move across the sky. The moon's position in the sky also affects the tides on earth. The moon's gravitational pull causes the water in the oceans to bulge, creating high tides and low tides. The moon's position in the sky also affects the seasons, as the moon's position in the sky changes with the seasons, causing the earth to tilt at different angles. These changes in the moon's position in the sky cause the seasons to change, with the summer solstice occurring when the earth is tilted most towards the sun and the winter solstice occurring when the earth is tilted most away from the sun. The moon is also a source of light, as it reflects sunlight onto the earth. The moon's light is responsible for illuminating the earth at night and is used to navigate and mark the positions of objects on the earth. The moon is also a source of water, as it is believed that water was once present on the moon. The moon's surface is covered with craters, which are formed by the impact of meteorites. These craters are a testament to the moon's history, as they show that the moon has been in existence for a very long time. The moon is an important source of information about the earth, as it is the only celestial body that is visible to the naked eye from the earth. The moon is also an important source of learning, as it is a subject of study for astronomers and scientists. The moon is a fascinating object, and it is a source of wonder and inspiration for people all over the world. It is a reminder of the beauty and mystery of our universe, and it is a reminder of the importance of exploration and discovery. The moon is a symbol of hope and a source of inspiration, and it is a reminder of the power of the human spirit. The moon is a source of beauty and wonder, and it is a reminder of the importance of taking the time to appreciate the beauty of the world around us.
