

What Difference Will You Make

In This World?

U.S. State Department Student Fulbright Grants send nearly 1,500 students to more than 150 countries for a year of study, research, to teach English, or to study International Business. Applicants must have completed an undergraduate degree by August 2010, and be U.S. citizens. Graduate students at any stage and recent alumni may also apply.

For more information please visit: <http://www.fulbrightonline.org>

This is an excellent opportunity to experience another culture, make a difference in people's lives, create a bridge between undergraduate and graduate school, or better prepare for your career.
