FULBRIGHT ENGLISH TEACHING
OPPORTUNITIES 2011 – 2012

U.S. Student Fulbright English Teaching Assistantships (ETAs) are offered in over 50 countries worldwide and in all world regions. For additional information and a list of countries where ETAs are available, as well as specific details on individual country requirements, placements, responsibilities and opportunities for research or coursework, see the Program Overview at www.us.fulbrightonline.org

In most cases, grantees are placed in schools or universities outside the capital cities. They are assigned various activities designed to improve their students' language abilities and knowledge of the United States, while increasing their own language skills and knowledge of the host country.

Applications are welcome from well rounded, articulate native-speakers of English interested in an international education experience who have the initiative needed to assist in English language teaching. Previous teaching experience is not necessarily required.

Applicants may apply for either an ETA or a traditional study or research grant. Applications for both will not be accepted.

Fulbright Program Advisers (FPAs) establish the campus deadline for receipt of enrolled student applications which is earlier than the national deadline of October 18, 2010.
