Talking Peace is a documentary about Jewish Palestinian Living Room Dialogue in San Diego. Like dialogue itself, Talking Peace is rooted in a process of getting to know distinct individuals and the telling details of their history and experience.

After the film, dialogue participants featured in the documentary will lead a discussion about the dialogue process, answering audience questions about their search for hope and understanding despite on-going strife in the Middle East.

“As soon as a several inhabitants of the United States have conceived a sentiment or an idea that they want to produce in the world, they seek each other out; and when they have found each other, they unite.

From then on they are no longer isolated men, but a power whose actions serve as an example; a power that speaks and to which one listens.”
