 Due to the high demand of students studying abroad, your preferred university may be impacted or currently unavailable. Our study abroad programs are bilateral exchange agreements and as a result the number of outgoing students also depends on the number of incoming students from the foreign institutions. We cannot guarantee that you will be recommended to attend your first foreign university choice. All students' preferences will be accommodated to the best of our ability. Preferences will be given to students by taking into consideration the following factors: Cumulative GPA, class level, and most appropriate "fit" determined by their Study Abroad Coordinator.

Foreign university admission policy is subject to change without prior notice, the ultimate admission decision is at the discretion of each foreign university.
