Dear Grandma,

I hope you're feeling better now, after your operation. I'm glad you are recovering so nicely. From what mom says, you're in a nice hospital with good treatment. Some hospitals just aren't very nice.

I've been busy lately with all sorts of things. I was going to make corn cob pipes for the Davis annual October Show, which is an art show. The art club at our school is making stuff for it, to sell so I decided to try corn cob pipes, but they got all messed up and I couldn't find anything to make the stems out of. So I made a candle and a tie dye instead. I'm not very good at making jewelry. Some of the other people made some really beautiful jewelry. So, I'm getting all ready for that.

I've been working on a report on India also, but my teacher doesn't care when we turn it in so I don't know exactly what to do. In P.E., I am playing hockey. It is a dangerous game. So far I've gotten as far as playing goalie and fullback which is not a very exciting position. Once a week I get to hit the ball and usually I miss because it's so easy for the others to hit the ~~pl~~ ball through the goal posts.

Well, I'm pretty busy keeping house with dad and keeping up my work in school so I just wanted to wish you well. Get better, soon!

Love,
Ann
