Monday,

Dear Ann,

I was surprised to see how much you had improved your swimming strokes. Good! Keep it up! Perhaps you will have something else, another surprise, to show me next week-end.

I was at the house this morning. I remembered that mother had put your doggie bank in the dresser. It was there; so I took the money from it. I did not want to leave any cash in our things. There was $40.44. We'll use part of this when we buy your bicycle, and put the rest in the bank when we open a new savings account for you.

Did the Giants play today? I supposed they rested. They needed it. A college freshman from Kansas, I think, broke the world's record in the mile run yesterday at Berkeley. Maybe you read the story in the paper. I can remember the first time any man ever ran the mile in less than four minutes. Ryun ran it in 3 minutes, 51 seconds, and $\frac{3}{10}$ of a second.

You'd like to ride to San Francisco on the bus. It's interesting. I saw one man with hair almost to his waist.

The only thing they've done to the house is tear out the kitchen and put in some rough plumbing. It will be good when it is finished.

Have fun and be helpful to mother.

Love
Dad
